Approved F Release 2002/08/21 : CIA-RDP79M00 Executive Registry 6-1730 76 - 1657 31 March 1976 Director of Central Intelligence MEMORANDUM FOR: ATINTL FROM Office of the Assistant to the DCI SUBJECT ASNE Speech Attached is a draft for "excerpts" for your handout at the ASNE speaking engagement. It will condense to one page when single spaced. We will take along enough copies to distribute at the meeting. STATINTL Excerpts from Remarks by George Bush, Director of Central Intelligence, before the American Society of Newspaper Editors, April 15, 1976

In a recent policy statement, I said that it is the Central Intelligence Agency's policy not to divulge the names of cooperating Americans. In this regard, CIA will not make public, now or in the future, the names of any cooperating journalists.

Certainly you, as American Newspaper Editors, know better than almost any group the importance of protecting sources of information. Revealing your sources would in very short order put your papers into running little but advertising. Revealing our sources not only could deny our government the information it must have to formulate effective foreign policy, but also could result quite literally in a life or death situation for the sources.

There is much information that the intelligence community can and should share with the public. I have been charged by the President with working on the problems of declassification and overclassification, and I take that charge seriously.

But intelligence cannot be conducted entirely in the open. Some secrets are essential. Intelligence sources -- just as news sources -- must be protected, and I intend to see that they are.

I believe that the air has been cleared by the Agency's clearly announced policy that it will not enter into any paid or contractual relationships with journalists accredited by any U.S. news service, newspaper, periodical, radio or television network or station. I must emphasize, however, that I do not think anyone should tell a person -- be he journalist, businessman, student, or any other citizen -- that he cannot voluntarily provide information to or cooperate with the CIA or any other Agency of the government.
